New York. July. 22. 1846.

85-
Bro. Phelps,

I have been looking daily for a line from you informing me of your arrival, & how you would have me direct your letters &c. to you. I have rec^d several letters for you which I presume you would like to have; but for fear of their mis-carrying, without a particular direction, I have hesitated about mailing them for Washington. The biggest one is from Mr. Menick of Drattleboro' Vt. - 3 letter sheets, but loosely written: one from J. B. Hudson, Medina. O. & another from S. M. Booth in relation to agencies: - one from Rev. Mr. Snow of Baltimore in connection with his little church, & one from Mr. Dunlop, of not much importance, except that it was lined with another draft for L. 3 Stg. & 3 leaves out of another pamphlet ~~is~~ published in Scotland. Your English papers are also rec^d. I sent them to your house by Edward, excepting the July Reporter, which I thought you would like to have. Please give me some general directions, & they shall be strictly complied with. Pay what papers you would like to have if any. I let Edward have $10 for his mother when he was last over. Hon. J. Hutchinson, Vt. has sent me $10 - & no friend in N. H. his name for the Reporter with $2.00 in reply to the circular. A letter rec^d this morning from Rev. Mr. Cross. W. Boston, Mass. but no money in it. Prof. Cleveland spent last Friday in N. Y. on his way to Saratoga. Messrs. Payne & Clark of Baltimore expect to ~~leave~~ sail to-day in a packet ship for Liverpool. They take Mr. Dunlop's books &c. as part of their baggage. Yours truly Wm. Harned

If you surprise why I did not send the letters with this, my only answer is, "I should this mis-carry, it is of less consequence than the other one."
